Excerpt from 1997 movie, Chasing Amy

Holden: Lando Calrissian was a black guy. You know, and he got to fly the Millennium Falcon, what's the matter with you?

Hooper: Who said that?

Holden: I did! Lando Calrissian is a strong role-model in the realm of science fiction/fantasy.

Hooper: F@#k Lando Calrissian! Uncle-Tom n*gger! Always some white boy gotta invoke the holy trilogy. Bust this: those movies are about how the white man keep the brother man down, even in a galaxy far, far away. Check this sh#t: You got cracker farm boy Luke Skywalker, Nazi poster boy, blond hair, blue eyes. And then you got Darth Vader, the blackest brother in the galaxy, Nubian god!

Banky Edwards: What's a Nubian?

Hooper: Shut the f@#k up! Now... Vader, he's a spiritual brother, y'know, down with the force and all that good sh#t. Then this cracker, Skywalker, gets his hands on a light saber and the boy decides he's gonna run the f@#kin' universe; gets a whole clan of whites together. And they go and bust up Vader's hood, the Death Star. Now what the f@#k do you call that?

Banky Edwards: Intergalactic civil war?

Hooper: Gentrification! They gon' drive out the black element to make the galaxy "safe" for white folks. And Jedi's the most insulting installment! Because Vader's beautiful black visage is sullied when he pulls off his mask to reveal a feeble, crusty, old white man! They tryin' to tell us that deep inside we all wants to be white!

Banky Edwards: Well... isn't that true?
[Hooper pulls out his gun, shoots Banky]
